

NOTES ON PLAN ANNOTATION

The Auckland Unitary Plan Operative in part has been annotated to show the parts of the plan that have been appealed with the High Court and Environment Court. While every attempt has been made to ensure the plan has been annotated correctly in relation to the changes requested (relief sought), it is recommended that the relevant appeals are read in full. Also please note that the annotations will be updated to reflect the changes made through the appeal process.

The appeals have been annotated in the text as follows:

- by a thick bold black line vertically down the left hand side of the page next to the provision/s that are appealed with the relevant High Court or Environment Court appeal reference, for example [CIV-2016-403-002318: D.H Jones Limited].
- where the annotation is shown underneath the relevant chapter or section heading the appeal either:
 - applies to a whole chapter or section; or
 - seeks the addition of new provisions to an existing chapter or section of the plan (including those seeking the reinstatement of provisions from an earlier version of the plan). Those appeals are annotated with the words 'addition sought' and the appeal must be read to understand what the addition is.
- where there are multiple appeals to a provision a footnote reference is shown next to the High Court or Environment Court appeal number. The footnote at the bottom of the page includes the full appeal reference.
- appeals seeking to add new chapters or sections that are not presently part of the plan (including a new precinct, or the reinstatement of a precinct or chapter from an earlier plan version) are:
 - annotated in the table of contents in the appropriate place with a brief statement of what the appeal seeks; and
 - annotated on a 'blank page' in the section of the plan where the addition is sought with a link to the appeal.

The appeals that only relate to the spatial application of a plan provision are identified on the planning maps within the Appeals and Modifications layer. There are two types of appeals affecting properties:

- appeals seeking changes to zones or management layers; or
- appeals seeking reinstatement of a management layer (Note: The management layers identified as seeking reinstatement are either management layers from the notified version of the Proposed Auckland Unitary Plan, or from The Independent Hearings Panel Recommendation Version – 22 July 2016 of the Auckland Unitary Plan).

The following is an up-to-date annotation of the appeals lodged on the Proposed Auckland Unitary Plan decisions version.
